Economic Development Through Microbusinesses: The New GoDaddy Venture Forward Initiative Discussion

Microbusinesses are all around us. However, because these very-small businesses are either too new or too small to show up in traditional economic tracking, their impact has largely gone unnoticed. Venture Forward’s mission is to change that. Venture Forward is a multi-year research effort by GoDaddy to quantify the impact of 20 million microbusinesses on the economy and their communities. The data is freely available to help policymakers better understand the importance of these microbusinesses, and how to best support them. Learn how microbusinesses are creating more inclusive and resilient economies.
